Nicholas is an award winning director who likes to build strong and interesting central characters that can explore human nature in all its guises - from the fabulous to the ridiculous, the awful to the wonderful. His latest film, Forget Me Not, starring BAFTA winner James Cosmo and John Heffernan, picked up awards across three continents and was first broadcast in the UK in 2020. Aside from his work as director, Nicholas has worked as a producer and 1st assistant director and has a thorough knowledge of the production process. He is an experienced script writer and film editor and has experience with an extensive range of production techniques and tools, from motion control to helicopters, low loaders to high rollers and beyond.
